CARRANZA, REPORTED CAPTURED, BREAKS REBEL LINES AND GETS AWAY TO MOUNTAIN FASTNESS

Escape Adds to Complexity of Situation in the Southern Republic.

HIS CHANCES NOT GOOD

Belled in Washington is That President's Age and Known Physical Condition Will Mitigate Against His Finally Shaking Off Revolutionists.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 15.—Carranza's escape from the revolutionary forces which attacked his troops near Esperanza was reported today by General Obregon.

In a message to revolutionary agents on the border which was forwarded here, Obregon said the deposed president had succeeded in breaking through the revolutionary lines and, accompanied by a small escort, was moving southward into the mountains. The message added that Carranza was being pursued by the revolutionists.

Official reports reaching Washington today contained additional news of the operations begun a week ago to effect the capture of the president. Recent information, however, indicated that the fighting had not been as severe as reported unofficially.

The escape of the president was regarded by government officials here as adding a complex feature to the situation, since with him at large there is set up a rallying point for those opposed to the new forces. Carranza's chances of escaping capture are regarded as comparatively slight, however, largely because of his age and physical condition which, it was believed, will make it difficult for him to undergo hard riding and exposure he will be forced to face.

NEW YORK, May 15.—General Carranza and 800 men have surrendered to the forces surrounding them in the Mexican mountains, according to word received here today by way of Nogales, Ariz.

This information was given out by Vincent De La Pena, self-styled commander of the new Mexican government. He said he received his information from Alphonse Almada of the Mexican bureau of information at Nogales.

General Santiago also surrendered with General Carranza, according to word received by De La Pena.

Troops under command of General Flores are in possession of the port of Mazatlan, on the west coast, according to the same source of information.

COL. MARTIN WILL NOT SPEAK HERE ON MEMORIAL DAY

His Prior Engagement in His Home Town; Grand Army Plans for a Memorial Observance.

Lieutenant Colonel Edward Martin of Westmoreland, who was in active command of the 11th Infantry during its severest fighting in France, and who has since been commissioned colonel of the 10th Infantry, National Guard of Pennsylvania, will not be a speaker at the Memorial Day exercises as was erroneously announced this morning. At the request of Walter E. Brown Post No. 21, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Major R. S. McKee wrote Colonel Martin, extending him an invitation to come to Connellsville on Memorial Day.

Yesterday Major McKee received a reply expressing the sincere regret of Colonel Martin at his inability to be in Connellsville as requested. He had already made arrangements to participate in the Memorial Day exercises in Westmoreland, where two days, Sunday and Monday, May 30 and 31, will be given over to honoring the dead. General Muir, commander of the 28th Division during the war, will be at Westmoreland to deliver an address on Memorial Day. Colonel Martin very cordially invites "any of the boys to come over for the occasion."

At the regular meeting of William F. Kurtz Post No. 104, Grand Army of the Republic, yesterday, a committee to make further plans for the day's services was appointed as follows: Colonel James J. Barnhart, Captain Edmund Dunn, J. E. Jones, William Law, L. W. Wolfe and Commander V. P. Clark as ex-officio members. As previously announced, Rev. Thomas W. Pershing, a Civil War veteran and a cousin of General John Pershing, will be the principal speaker.

LUTHERANS TO RAISE FUND FOR EUROPE'S NEEDY TOMORROW

Special Appeal Made by Pastor of Trinity Church, Connellsville; $2 a Member Asked.

An offering for Lutheran relief work in Europe will be taken in Trinity church, Connellsville, Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. William H. Helrick, today made the following announcement relative to the situation: "The Lutherans of America, in a spirit of genuine brotherly love, are in the midst of a great movement for funds with which to assist and encourage their many churches in central Europe, disorganized and unsettled by the destructive forces of the great war. The Lutheran church is the largest Protestant denomination in the world, numbering possibly 90,000,000, and most of these are in the war-stricken countries of Europe where their condition is one of the direst need."

"These people are looking naturally to the American Lutheran church for sympathy and encouragement and to respond to the appeal in the true spirit of Christianity, the American churches are raising a fund of $2,000,000. This will mean approximately $2 per member. The effort will appeal to every thinking man and commend itself as worthy of the highest respect and consideration. A large offering will be received in Trinity church and Sunday school at the services tomorrow."

MAY DRAG RIVER

Brother Here to Look After Recovery of Suicide's Body.

Efforts to locate the body of John Phillips, the Leaning No. 1 Austrian who ended his life on Thursday night by jumping into the Youghiogheny river from a bridge here, may be begun this afternoon. A brother, whose home is in Wick Haven, arrived in the city this morning to make arrangements for having the river dragged.

There are no boats in this city and for this reason dragging may not be started today. The brother, who is a farmer, was informed of the suicide yesterday.

The identity of the man as John Phillips was completely established yesterday when it was learned the package he carried had been given him in Pittsburgh to deliver to another man at Leisensburg. The man claimed the package this morning.

It is believed by some that the body will not be found in the pools between or below the two bridges here as the high water of Thursday would tend to carry it farther down. The brother of the dead man did not have any further plans other than securing a boat.

TWO GIVEN HEARINGS

First Police Court Sessions Since Early in Month.

It seemed almost like old time this morning when two prisoners were brought in to face Mayor John Dugan in police court. The charges were drunkenness. For the first time in a week arrests were entered on the police docket when the men were picked up yesterday. There were three, the third man, also charged with drunkenness, bailing himself out last night with a $5 forfeit.

The police court session today was the first since the early part of the month. Only 10 arrests have been made altogether so far in May and some of these left forfeits while others did not require hearings before the mayor.

RUMORED STRIKE ON B. & O. FAILS TO MATERIALIZE

Traffic Normal on Local Divisions This Afternoon, Is Statement.

NOT SO AT DICKERSON RUN

Many of Men Who Marked Up For Resumption of Duty Fail to Report When Called; Shopmen Vote to Continue Strike; Large Mass Meeting

Conditions are far below normal on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at Dickerson Run again today. Practically every shopman is out and 70 per cent of the trainmen who had marked up for duty have refused to report when called.

Although there were strong rumors that the Baltimore & Ohio railroad men would resume the strike on May 15, today saw no change in the situation. Conditions here are normal on that road, it was said.

At Dickerson Run there are two yard crews working today and four or five road crews are available.

The public mass meeting held by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad strikers in the Dawson Opera house at Dawson last night was largely attended by the railroad employees and citizens of both Dawson and Dickerson Run. The meeting was addressed by men who are representatives of the strikers.

R. M. Jewell, an engineer of McKees Rocks, who was one of those to ask an audience with the Railroad Labor Board in Washington, told the history of the strike. Another McKees Rocks man, J. A. Miller, also made a talk.

Rev. E. A. Glennon opened the meeting with a short prayer, Burgess L. S. Melling of Dawson spoke.

Conditions are peaceful in Dickerson Run. Throughout the strike there has been no attempt at disorder. Trainmen claim that large numbers of the men who marked up for duty have since resumed the layoff and that only five per cent are at work. The situation has virtually become a see-saw of claims and counter-claims and decisions and counter-decisions.

Shopmen, 330 in number, it is reported, held a meeting of their own prior to the public session and determined to lay off 100 per cent strong. The shopmen struck early in the week but since had reported for duty. These, it is claimed, were again persuaded to come out.

A train of empties was moved along the Broad Ford branch from Broad Ford to the Summit mines yesterday, giving miners in that district an opportunity to work for the first time since the strike became effective.

This morning a heavy train moved east over the Western Maryland lines out of Dickerson Run. It is one of the biggest to go through since the inauguration of the walk out.

LENINE AND COHORTS PLACE NORTHERN RUSSIA UNDER THE STRICTEST MILITARY RULE

By Associated Press.
MOSCOW, Wednesday, May 12.—A decree issued by the central executive committee dated May 11 proclaims martial law in the provinces of central and northern Russia and Archangel.

The provincial executive committee is given full power to protect railways, military supplies, magazines and depots and to control telegraphic and telephonic communication.

A 24-hour work day in the administrative offices is decreed and measures are to be taken to stimulate the manufacture of war material. Until the abolition of martial law the executive committee is given the same powers as military tribunals to secure the carrying out of this program, including punishment for disobedience.

The decree is signed by Kalaishin and Lenin. The inevitable interruption of the development of peace time industries through concentration of upon the effort to produce war materials, it is pointed out here, will tend indefinitely to postpone the execution of plans for the resumption of importation and exportation on a large scale.

Representative S. A. Kendall of Meyersdale, Republican, who has made an enviable record for himself in the National House, is a candidate for re-election to Congress in the 23rd district, composed of Fayette, Somerset and Greene counties. His announcement was made some time ago but because of pressure of official business in Washington he has not been able to make a personal campaign.

Kendall is opposed by James B. Werner, proprietor of Somerset county, and Victor E. Francis of Perry township. Messrs. Werner and Francis are running on platforms favoring the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer.

For the legislature there is no contest in the Republican ranks in the Second district, of which Connellsville is a part. The candidates are Ernest R. For the state committee the candidates are T. B. Donnelly of Connellsville and Mart A. Kiefer of Uniontown. Benne Penrose is unopposed for the United States Senate. Charles A. Snyder for state treasurer and Samuel S. Lewis, York county, for auditor general.

Candidates for Congress may-at-large, of whom four are to be nominated, include Thomas S. Crago, Greene county.

Within the Democratic party the principal contest will be waged between Judge Eugene C. Bonnell of Philadelphia and Joseph P. Guffey of Pittsburgh for the Democratic national committee. There are also 24 candidates on the Democratic ticket for delegates at large to the San Francisco convention with 12 to be elected.

The Democrats also will decide contests for the nomination for United States senator, state treasurer, auditor general and Congressmen-at-large. Bruce P. Sterling is the candidate for Congress in the 23rd district. He is also a candidate for delegate to the national convention at San Francisco, others being Charles E. Lenhart of Uniontown and Charles I. Faddis of Greene county. There are no candidates for alternate delegate. Jean M. Core of Uniontown is a candidate at large.

Candidates for the Legislature are Harry Cochran, Dawson; Kenyon Howard, South Union township, and J. D. Madigan, Connellsville, for the Second district, and William M. Rhodes, Springhill township, for the First.

William McCormick of Connellsville and D. Ford Swaney of Georges township have no opposition for state committee.

On the non-partisan ticket George Kunkle of Dunbar county and Sylvester B. Sadler of Cumberland county are candidates for the Supreme court bench and William B. Lani of Philadelphia county for the Superior court.

FATE OF FRUIT
CROP IN DOUBT;
MAY BE SAFE YET

Garden Plants Previously Exposed to Cold Said to Have Escaped Damage Last Night.

One of the heaviest frosts of the late spring was that of last night but whether much damage was caused is yet to be determined. The temperature sank to freezing, although the official thermometer did not show it. That it was down to 32 was demonstrated by the fact that standing water froze.

Hope for the fruit crop lies in the fact that it has been cold for so long that all vegetation is hardened and like in the fall. It requires a hard freeze to kill it. The hardening effect of continued cold is found in the fact that in places in which the season's frost was very heavy tomato plants in the ground were not damaged.

WAS BADLY RUN-DOWN FROM PNEUMONIA

Mrs. Washburn Quickly Regained Her
"Strength and Health"

I had grippe followed by pneumonia. It left me with a terrible soreness in my chest, constant pain in my throat and so weak and nervous I could neither eat nor sleep. I had a chill every morning.

One day a young man told me how Milk's Emulsion had got him out of bed and built him up after he had been reduced to a skeleton and given up on the doctors. So I tried it. I had a sure relief in my appetite and flesh, sleep better than I have for years and am doing all my own work again and feel like a new person.

The beauty about Milk's Emulsion is that it doesn't sear or irritate. Most things and as well as a medicine and builds up the blood and tissues. It is a food as well as a medicine and I have the healthiest color I ever had.

Mrs. W. Washburn of 21 Centre St. writes: "It costs nothing to try Milk's Emulsion. It will build you up more quickly and surely than anything else."

Milk's Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and cathartics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milk's Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened and is a powerful aid in resisting and repelling the effects of various diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

EXPLOSIVE SHELL

For Machine Gun Invented by South
Connellsville Man.

Matthew A. Walker, who is making his home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Betty of South Conneltsville, has secured a patent upon an improvement in shells for machine guns which adds greatly to the destructiveness of this type of weapon. Walker's plan consists in fitting the shells with a hollow instead of a solid projectile. Within the cavity there is placed an explosive charge. A firing pin projecting through the nose of the projectile causes the charge to explode when the projectile strikes the target, whatever it may be. The new type of shell is applicable to guns of different caliber but is intended particularly for use in machine guns.

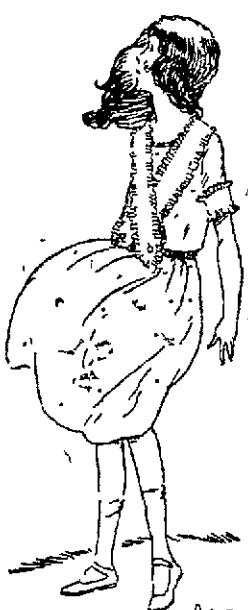

The inventor some time earlier devised an automobile tire which is intended to make the use of inner tubes unnecessary. A manufacturing firm in Cincinnati is now developing the invention.

Walker served through the war as a member of the 335th Infantry, Second Division participating in many engagements in one of which he was gassed by the Germans. When he entered the service he resided in Texas. Since the war he has lived in Conneltsville. He is employed in the plant of the United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry company at Scottdale.

THE BUYER THE MARKET REGU-LATOR.

There is at present much speculation among both buyers and merchants as to the course prices will take. Within the past two weeks there has been a general reduction of prices in retail channels, the meaning of which observers of merchandising conditions are apparently at loss to satisfactorily determine. By some the movement is taken to mean that there has been a real curtailment in buying power, while others incline to the view that the public is beginning to come to its senses and has determined to bring the spending orgy to a close.
Evidence of this tendency have become noticeable in many quarters.
The fact that buyers are beginning to ask the price of articles instead of taking them without question or hesitation and haggling out a bill of large denomination in payment, is being interpreted to mean that a movement has set in to halt the upward trend of prices, even if it does not immediately have the effect of bringing them down.

If this is the correct view to take of the situation "there is no doubt," says the Dry Goods Economist, "that the organ of the dry goods trade, 'that it will force a corresponding reduction all the way back to the producer.'"
The restraint upon buying having extended to the retail merchants would indicate that the curtailment has really set in. But, on the other hand it may be, as the Economist asks,
"merely a device to move seasonal stocks which have remained inactive owing to the unreasonable weather or a device to stimulate more than normal buying? If it is, and if retailers themselves hold off from buying, as they are now doing, then a rash for fall goods, with a consequent shooting up of prices, seems inevitable."

With this analysis by a medium presumed to be in close touch with the situation it would appear that the controlling factor in the matter of prices is, after all, the retail buyer.
If the unbridled reign of expenditure, without regard to price is to continue, there can be no reasonable hope for an early or permanent reduction.
If, instead, prudence be exercised, the markets will readily respond to the limitations placed upon it by buyers and everybody, including the merchants, will welcome a gradual and safe return to normal.

THE SUGAR FIASCO.

The people are more concerned about a solution of the sugar problem than any other question before the public at this time. They are well aware that the attempts of the administration to affect a regulation of supply and price or to prevent profiteering in this essential article of food have failed ignominiously. In the face of the largest imports of raw sugar in the history of the country, and a large production at home, with consumers unable to secure it at retail except in doses of a pound or two, and at times being obliged to do without, a condition is presented which is unparalleled in the history of the country. What to do under the circumstances is a question nobody, in authority in Washington, seems competent to decide. In the absence of other suggestions, a solution a proposition recently made by Herbert Hoover is deserving of consideration. In commenting upon it the Philadelphia Ledger says:

Mr. Hoover adds another crushing count to the indictment of the federal administration for its mismanagement of the sugar situation. His specific suggestion, in his telegram to Senator Capper of Kansas, that the existing shortage and high prices are due "simply to bad business administration," confirms the evidence already presented by the Equalization Board, and fastens irrevocably upon the President, and the attorney general, the direct responsibility for a situation which involves a wholly unnecessary tax of $50 upon every family in the United States."

But Mr. Hoover's characteristic practical common sense does not stop with a mere indication of the officials at whose doors lies the blame for the present costly fiasco, but suggests a remedy. That remedy is, in his opinion, not to be found in Attorney General Palmer's conception that the shortage of sugar and the high prices demanded for it "can be handled by putting a few persons in jail," but in adoption of the same measures which during the war protected the people of the United States from a disaster of similar character. In Mr. Hoover's judgment, to secure international cooperation to end the competitive hoarding of sugar for raw sugar and to reintroduce in this country a rationing system until conditions can be restored to the normal.
He would suspend retail restrictions upon the consumption of sugar by all non-essential industries, and in this way insure to the domestic consumers and to all essential purposes a fair supply of this indispensable article of commodities, and at the same time.

To the average housewife who observes the uninterrupted operation of confection and soft drink manufacturers, which consume sugar in prodigious quantities, the necessity of placing them under restrictions, as Mr.

Hoover proposes, makes a very strong appeal. It is more practicable than the so-called price-lowering and anti-profiteering campaigns the Department of Justice has pressed against with such loud trumpeting, but failed so ingloriously to make good. Jailing the conscienceless profiteers need not be interfering with but should be made a real activity at the same time restrictions are being placed upon the use of sugar in the non-essential industries. The situation requires heroic treatment, but to whom can we look to take the initiative?

Neglecting Our Disabled

Harvey's Weekly.

In peace no less than war one may not procrastinate. In war we did procrastinate. That was brought rudely home to us in the dark days of March, 1918. And German victories forced us to send untrained, "un-hardened men to battle. But we are at war no more, except to the exalted view. The Captains and the Kings are gone. For delay there is again no reason. Yet we are, it seems, delaying the sacred duty of rehabilitating our disabled.

The efforts relating to this problem of rehabilitation were brought to public attention long ago as February of the present year. The army announced more than 300,000 casualties.
Not all of these were wounds of battle. Many were injuries and ailments incurred in camp on this side. The Federal Board for Vocational Education reported a total registration of 209,000. Not all of these were eligible for the rehabilitation law. Many were duplicates, occasioned by a man being discharged at some point other than the camp or hospital nearest his home. As against these duplicates were 15,000 yet in hospitals and not included in the total, but prospective.
Of 100,000 who were eligible, less than 25,000, it seems, were being trained, and fewer than 200 had been turned out as "having had the full benefits of training." That, of course, was nothing less than a public scandal.
It was bad enough to delay training our young men for years; it was infinitely worse to delay training them for peace. This is hitting a man when he is down.

The whole matter is now being looked into by a committee of Congress. A little procession of Congressional investigations do not offer much encouragement, but it is so obviously the will of the country to restore beyond reproach these disabled men to civil life that we cannot help but feel that out of this one investigation, at least, will come real and lasting good.

The facts reveal only too clearly that either the law is wrong or the administration of the law is wrong. If it is the former, Congress must admit responsibility and provide relief. The law has already been amended, and the Vocational Board seems not to have been applied for wider powers. If, then, it is the administration of the law that is wrong, the men responsible for the failure must be named.
We can conceive of no greater punishment for such than to be removed from office for having failed the disabled soldier. Greater than that is no disgrace.

At present, it must be admitted, only one side of the case has been heard—if, indeed, it can be considered as having two sides. The figures are stated to be the board's own figures.
They leave little opportunity for explanation; none for excuse. Still the board is only beginning its defense, and it is only fair to suspend final judgment. Its preliminary statements, however, indicate that its work has been far from complete.

Testimony, in the first instance, has been largely that of soldiers. Instances of obviously unwarranted delay have been stated. These seem to have been caused by the decision of the board in Washington to pass on all cases. That was a mistake at the start. A man employed in Washington was endowed with no greater ability or breadth of vision than one employed, let us say, in San Francisco.
Yet the office in San Francisco had to send all its cases to Washington for judgment and review. It was the same with all the district offices. That was the policy of the board. It led to delay. It was bound to.

The investigation is thorough-going in its way. There is no assurance, however, that it will be as far-reaching as it should be. So far, its scope has been limited to the central office in Washington and the district office in New York. Yet there is agitation all over the country. Everywhere American Legion posts are adopting resolutions criticizing the board, and soldiers are carrying their complaints to the newspapers of every large city.
Any one who has watched the pressure of the past few weeks must have noted the widespread discontent with the board and its work.

If, eighteen months after the armistice, we are only now beginning this work, we should at least begin in earnest! Further delay will, spell further disaster. From this point on, the inquiry should be intensive, and at an early date the committee should report in a way that will assure trusting to these men, and satisfy the country that the task will be efficiently carried through.

Just Folks

Dugan A. Guest.

BED TIME.

It's bedtime, and we lock the door.
Put out the lights—the day is o'er;
All that can come of good on ill,
The record of the day to fill,
Written down, the worries cease,
And old and young may rest in peace.

We knew not when we started out
That fingers boded us all about.
What little pleasures we should gain,
What should be ours to bear of pain,
But now the fires are burning low,
And this day's history we know.

No harm has come, the laughter here
Has been unbroken by a tear.
We've met no hurt too great to bear,
We have not had to howl in care.
The children all are safe in bed,
There's nothing now for us to dread.

When bedtime comes and we can say
That we have safely lived the day,
How sweet the calm that settles down
And shuts away the noisy town!
There is no danger now to fear
Until tomorrow shall appear.

When the long bedtime comes, and I
In sleep eternal turn to lie,
When life has nothing more in store,
And silently I close the door,
God grant my weary soul may claim Security from hurt and shame.

"What?" he asked. He analyzed his own characteristics at eighty years as follows:

"I am a prohibitionist—with modifications; a female, suffragist—with limitations; still, not wholly a damned fool. I am still, let me say, one of the boys—a big boy, and out of the ring—but I can't sit up and take notice, and I like to see it going on. Good-bye, boys; good luck and God bless you!"

SHOWER AT PERCY

Most Delightful Gathering For Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews.

Special to The Courier.

PERCY, May 13.—One of the most delightful gatherings in this section was the surprise shower for Mrs. Elizabeth Matthews Smiley and her husband, John Smiley, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles Matthews, last week. Mrs. Smiley had been at Dunbar all the day and with her husband was returning to her home in the evening. This gave the friends time to pack the many presents which comprised household and culinary utensils, ornaments, china, etc., in her room, and not an inch of space remained, so liberal was the shower. The newlyweds found the house filled with guests. Games and music made up the entertainment. Elegant refreshments were served.

Those present were Mrs. John W. Woods, Connellsville; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gray, and Miss Tillie Lowry, Dunbar; Mrs. John Stanley, Belle Vernon; Clarence Lozaw, Uniontown; Mary Betty Hopwood; Pearl Fordyce and Kenneth Martin, Coalspring; Mrs. Amos Matthews and Mrs. Robert Clark and Grace Clark, Mount Braddock; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rishel and children, Clara and Genevieve; Mr. and Mrs. Emmons Newcomer and daughter, Emma Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crawford and son, Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. D. OPEN FORUM AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY EVENING

Opportunity Will Be Given to Present Moral and Religious Questions.

ALL ASKED TO TAKE PART

Problems Coming Up in Sunday School May Be Submitted for Analysis or Others That May Arise; General News of Churches of Vicinity.

The Sunday evening services of the First Baptist church will take on an added feature this week in that the minister, Rev. J. Earle Edwards, will give opportunity to all present to present questions that have to do with the moral and religious life.

"There is something," said the minister, "in the statement made by a man sometime ago that preaching did not give the people a square deal because the people had no come-back. However that may appear, there is certainly a time for everybody to have a say. It is arranged in the program to be started Sunday night to have the questions which have been put into the plates Sunday morning or evening or sent by mail to the church office at any time, answered to the best of the ability of the speaker. If anyone has something to add he is at perfect liberty to do so; indeed, he is urged to add his voice. The purpose of the church is to get at the truth and to make the application in daily life only by hearing all sides of questions, can the truth be arrived at fairly and intelligently."

Any perplexing queries that come up in the Bible classes Sunday morning may be given the minister for his consideration Sunday nights.

The topic of the talk Sunday night is "What if the World Should Come to an End?" The meeting is to last one hour only, 7:30 to 8:30. The questions need have no bearing on the topic discussed. If questions are asked that seem important enough the topic announced may be postponed a week.

Beauty More Than Skin Deep. There is an old saying that beauty is only skin deep. That may be so with those who get their beauty out of a box but not the genuine sort. Beauty is really only another word for good health and no woman who is bilious and constipated can reasonably hope to be beautiful. Chamberlain's Tablets will correct these disorders, then with proper diet and exercise there is no reason why any young woman with regular features may not hope to be beautiful.—Adv.

She Feels Fine Now. Aches and pains often indicate kidneys out of order. Your kidneys surely need help—and quickly—when your hands or feet are swollen and you feel dull and sluggish, lose your appetite and your energy and there is a puff look under the eyes. Mrs. L. Gibson, 1214 and Edison St., La Junta, Colo., writes: "My kidneys were giving me a great deal of trouble for some time. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me right away. I feel fine now." GEO. YOUNG, FORMER REPUBLIC TWIRLER, TO JOIN THE LOCALS

Ambridge Young Man Will Be On Hand Next Saturday Afternoon.

IS HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

The change in the day for the opening of the Connellsville Independents was rather a lucky move on the part of the club. The morning's mail brought the information that the club can secure the services of George Young of Ambridge. Young is one of the best twirlers in the game. Last season he pitched for Republic where he made a hit, both with the club and the fans. Tom Jones who will catch for the Independents, says that Young is one of the best pitchers he has ever caught. Andy Getzie, who is to hold an infield position for the local team, also speaks highly of Young. Andy says that George is the best fielding pitcher he ever saw work.

The Independents will play an exhibition game next Wednesday afternoon with New Wilson's Stars at Fayette Field. All the players that have been mentioned as candidates for the team are requested to put in an appearance. Those that have been mentioned include Tom Jones, Stewart Tencat, Ute Smiley, "Pike" Henry, "Pine" Townsend, Andy Getzie, "Chip" Francis, Walter Moody, A. Frazier, E. Frazier, "Babe" Fisher, Arty Brown, and any others that want to try for the team. It is requested that the players will get in touch with Chip Francis as early as possible, so that Chip will know if they intend to be out at the field or not. If they can notify the club at 31407, Second National bank building, Herrod, the Pittsburgh twirler, will be out at the game next Saturday, when the Independents play the Fairbanks team of Pittsburgh.

BASEBALL CHIRPS

Some conception of how closely this page is read by the followers of sports and how far it reaches can be gained by a long distance phone call that was received at The Courier office from Wheeling, W. Va. George Menzon of that city, who is interested in baseball, asked if we could get in touch with one of the Trotter players for him. Mr. Menzon also mentioned the fact that he was a close reader of the page and being that we were a live wire he knew that he could get the player that he wanted by merely calling on us. Needless to state the request of Mr. Menzon was cheerfully granted.

It is earnestly requested that those who promised the Connellsville baseball club their financial support in erecting the stands, but who have failed to keep their pledge, will kindly make arrangements to pay same at once.

Newt Wilson asked us to send out a S. O. S. call for all his players to report to him at Fayette Field next Wednesday without fail.

The Leisenring Athletic association will be represented by a fast team this year. The new baseball diamond is nearing completion. The authorities are working hard to have it ready within a very short time. The location, in front of the Union Supply company store, was wisely chosen. A recent election of officers resulted as follows: Business managers, W. Pritchard; playing coach, J. Henry; captain, A. Getzie. The Leisenring boys expect to have even a better team this year than last. This is saying a great deal for the team considering that last year they took over such teams as Smock, Hostetter and Trotter.

There is some fine material in Leisenring and under the leadership of Getzie and Henry it is safe to say that the season will be a successful one. Those to appear in the Leisenring uniform will most probably be chosen from the following: Getzie, Henry, W. Kelly, Honsberger, Pritchard, Vargo, Worthington, Walton, Alexander and Harmon. J. Kelly and David will join the team as soon as their school season closes.

BOXING

Tonight the postponed bout between Harry Greb and Tom Gibbons takes place at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. Another big delegation of boxing fans of this city will leave to take in the battle.

A. A. Dolzler of Altoona will be in this city within the next few days to complete arrangements personally for the appearance of Filly Carter for a bout at Clearfield.

BOWLING

A hitch seems to have risen over the bowling match between the Wilson-Irwin team and the Bauser-Bailey team. No doubt the matter will be straightened out.

TRACK AND FIELD

Andrew Skomp has taken full charge of the Connellsville High track and field teams. He has started to give the students real training for the big meeting which will be held on May 29. In Skomp taking full charge the boys will have a mentor who has had experience in such contests. Not only is Andrew fully qualified to handle the athletes but the students will have a coach who will work as hard as they in trying to put over a winning team. Skomp has issued to every candidate a written list of rules which must be observed by the students. This embraces diet, regular hours for training, a schedule to be

UNIONTOWN COAL MEN DISPOSE OF LARGE ACREAGE

E. T. Hitchman, Wheeling Purchaser of Holdings of Ruth Coal & Coke Company, 2,300 Acres.

Through the firm of Umbel, Robinson, McKean and Williams, Uniontown, the Ruth Coal & Coke company, a West Virginia corporation, whose stock is owned by Uniontown investors, has sold 2,300 acres of coal in Marshall county, near Moundsville, W. Va. The consideration was not announced nor was the identity of the stockholders of the Ruth Coal & Coke company, other than that they were Uniontown men. The six foot seam of coal in the tract is about 125 feet deep. The announcement of the sale follows:

"On May 13, 1920, a coal deal of considerable importance was consummated by which the Ruth Coal & Coke company, a West Virginia corporation, whose stock is all owned in Uniontown, sold to E. T. Hitchman of Wheeling, W. Va., a tract of 2,300 acres of coal land situated south of Moundsville, Marshall county, W. Va., adjoining properties of the Woodland Coal & Coke company, Wheeling Coal & Coke company, and others.

"Woodland Coal & Coke company is controlled by the Keisters and A. C. Overholt of Scotland, who are now building a modern plant on their property. The Wheeling Coal & Coke company tract is owned by Fayette and Greene county parties.

"Mr. Hitchman is the leading coal operator of the Ohio valley, being president and owner of the controlling interest in the Hitchman Coal & Coke company, whose works are located a short distance south of Wheeling, W. Va. Mr. Hitchman recently sold his Glendale mine, with a large acreage of coal, situated near Moundsville, to Cleveland people. He is also operating extensively in Ohio.

"Mr. Hitchman did not state whether he intended to open up his tract at present or not. It has a large frontage on the Ohio river. The Ohio river division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad runs through the entire river frontage and the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio touches the rear of the field, so it is very advantageously located for both river and rail transportation."

EDITORIAL.

There are about twenty men who signed an agreement to join the company, when the recruiting drive was in full swing, who have not as yet taken the physical examination or enlisted oath. Notices have been sent to these men but no responses have been returned.

The men who have signed these papers, stating their desire to enlist, have a moral obligation to fulfill. This obligation is to make good their word, unless there is a good reason other than a personal one.

Whatever your reason is, have enough pride in yourself to report at the Armory Monday night and explain your attitude to the officer in command.

ANOTHER "SNAPPY" DRILL; FINE SPIRIT MANIFESTED

The second drill of the company was held Monday night with 60 men present. They put snap into the work. From the spirit manifested there is no question of the success of the new organization as a military unit. Every man put his best efforts into the work and while their appearance is not yet that of seasoned veterans, the vim is there and that is the most essential thing.

Speed movements were taken up by the company and the execution was encouraging, considering that it was only the second night of drill. An awkward squad was formed of those men who had joined the company since the first drill, and they were put through their paces by Private Krepps.

Several visitors were in the balcony Monday and expressed pleased surprise at the showing of the men after two nights' work. Seeing is believing, and this accounts for the addition of some new recruits at drill.

Owing to the absence of Private Haglaka, Company pianist, Singing Instructor Haviland was a busy man, looking for a substitute. There were no volunteers. A member suggested that the Sponsors put it was impossible to secure one of them in time to finish the music drill.

Space will be secured near the Armory for a drill field. The men will be glad to get on terra-firma in preference to the slippery floor of the Armory.

Butler Atkins gave all the calls in the Bugler's Manual to the men last Monday evening for the purpose of instruction.

For the Good of the Company.

Assembly comes promptly at 7:40. Some are coming in a little later than this, which is unnecessary to be late.

A study of the Infantry Drill Regulations would help some of the men at drill.

All who wish to take an examination for a non-com place had better be doing some review work.

If every man who is not a member of Company D, but who has promised to come to the Armory and talk the matter over would come out Monday evening the Armory wouldn't hold them.

Call the Armory before drill if you can't possibly attend.

"Between Details."

During drill Lieutenant Bewick told Private Hannam that his mind was not on the drill. "Wonder if it wasn't wandering in the vicinity of Fayette street at that time?"

Sergeant: "Why haven't you shaved this morning?" Private: "In great surprise—'Ain't I shaved?" Sergeant: "No, you're not. Why not?" Private: "Well, I guess I shaved another feller. You see, there were a dozen of us using the same mirror."

A small boy came down the street one day wearing a tie to a necktie in an extra large bow. Another boy said: "Jack, why have you got on that loud necktie for?" Jack replied: "I have holes in my shoes and I want people to look at my head."

SPORTS.

A. R. Skomp has taken complete charge of the C. H. S. track team and expects to have a winning team by May 29th, and it will be entered at Schenley Oval, Pittsburg.

When the Company gets going good every indication points to a baseball team which promises to be one of the best in this part of the state. They already have in view such men as Danner, a former high school pitcher; Corrado, catcher for the Dunbar; and "Humie," the all-around athlete from Scottsdale high; Skomp, Bewick and Marietta, who were able to get some good baseball experience in the service; Bufano, Weaver, and several other good men, all known as baseball men.

Carter's instructions in physical exercises are given with the view of preparing the Armory men as first-class bayonet fighters when they take up the work with the rifles. As each movement in the physical exercises and in boxing is reproduced in the bayonet exercises which will be given.

It will not be long before we can put on some good boxing shows. John Pollock, who hails from Dickerson Run, seems to be our best bet now. Some of the other boys may step into the limelight. Let's keep our eyes on Paul Rodgers.

Some one asked if there was a catcher in the outfit. What about "Noser"? Corrado? "Noser" has been grabbing them off the bat for a good while and is quite an artist at handling the hot ones.

THE SPONSOR CLUB.

The Sponsor club was first organized through the efforts of Miss Mollie Schuler for the purpose of securing recruits and upholding the social standard of Company D by attending and giving aid at all social events. A meeting was held at the high school and the club was made a permanent organization, with the following officers: Mollie Schuler, chief sponsor; Savilla Struble, assistant sponsor; Nanna Hood, secretary; Georgetta Scott, treasurer. The recruiting committee consists of Misses Alice Kramer, Elizabeth McClaren and Harriet Wihart. Through their efforts seven recruits have been added to the company. The number in the Sponsor club is now 61.

Now that the Sponsor club has a representative on the staff of the National Guardsman it will be up to the members to send all the news to be published to Miss Struble.

A RAPID-FIRE ENLISTMENT.

Credit goes to Charles Yaw for speed in securing an enlistment for Company D. Yaw was sunning himself on the bright side of Crawford avenue, with one eye shut and one-half of the other eye doing anything but looking for prospective recruits, when Ellis Nichols came along—thinking no more of joining Company D than of setting an incubator at the present price of eggs.

Yaw became alert and at once started a two-minute barrage of arguments which Nichols could not resist to save his life. The result was that at the end of the two minutes the new recruit had two physical examination forms in his hand and was on his way to Major McKee's office, where he was regularly examined. In the meantime Yaw had secured the assistance of Mr. Keary and "Butch" Rodgers was called in from the tennis courts, where he was working. Harry double-timed it down town with a couple of enlistment papers, at the same time that Captain Skomp came down from the high school. The applicant was immediately sworn in and the entire time did not exceed 12 minutes.

A few more rapid-fire performances like that and Company D will have a waiting list a mile long.

State officials are seriously considering arrangements for a summer encampment of the new National Guard, now that prospects are favorable for the early completion of several regiments of the new militia. It is possible an encampment for provisional brigades may be held at Mount Gretna in July or August. The camp site is being put into shape with many improvements, although the size of the encampment and date are indefinite.

National Guard officers are anxious for encampment to be held, so that the younger men who have joined the various units may get training with veterans of the World War.

DOMINANCE OF TRANSPORTATION SITUATION GIVEN CONCRETE PROOF

In Decrease in Production; Furnace Interests Have the Advantage.

RIVER SHIPMENT PLAN

Affords Frick Company Outlet While Merchants Must Depend Upon Two Railroads; Output Less Than 50 Per Cent; Lake Erie R. R. Offers Hope.

Special to The Weekly Courier.—That the production of coke made no gain last week, but developed a slight decrease as compared with the week preceding, is about as concrete proof as could be offered that the transportation situation is not only continues to dominate the coke trade, but that it is still far from normal.

That the furnace interests were able to practically hold their own in the matter of production, shows that the facilities the M. C. Frick Coke company has at its command in moving part of its product down the river are a very important factor in the situation, insofar as relates to preventing more serious curtailment in the supply of coke to the furnaces. Through the use of its individual cars the Frick company has established a regular service between some of its plants in the Lower Connellsville district and its river loading points, which has enabled these operations to make full time and maximum production, thereby keeping the output of the region to a fair aggregate, considering the handicaps imposed by the transportation mixup. The movement of approximately 250 cars of coke last week indicates the magnitude of this service which is so helpful in keeping the United States Steel Corporation's furnaces in the Pittsburgh district free of the embargoes the strike has laid upon those in other districts. The river shipments of the Pittsburgh Steel company's Albia plant performs a like service for the parent corporation's furnaces at Monessen.

Dependent wholly upon the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio railroads as means of reaching the markets the merchant producers are much less fortunate. While the nominal car supply has ranged around 50 to 60 per cent restrictions on the movement of coke, largely outside of the region's boundaries, has had the effect of cutting the usable supply down to about 16 to 20 per cent. Plant operations continue by the same irregular scale ruling since the railroad strike put a crimp in train movement. Some plants make but one day, some two or three, others four or five and there one will run every week day but without being able to show six full days' production as the result of somewhat strenuous efforts. If it were possible to strike an accurate average it would assuredly fall below three days a week for the merchant operations as a whole, as is plainly reflected in the production figures which are less than 50 per cent of normal capacity.

A ray of hope that better things are in sight is provided in the break that came yesterday in the blockade that has been sustained on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad ever since the strike began. Five freight crews, two assigned to coke trains, were on duty which made it possible to move coke that has been in cold storage in the Dickerson Run yards for several weeks. The resumption of traffic on this road, if it should also include the re-opening of the Newell yards, will afford very much needed relief, particularly for the Lower Connellsville district. The inability of the Monongahela railroad to exchange traffic with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie at Newell has vitally placed an embargo on all coal and coke destined from that district to points on the New York Central system in the valleys and on the Lakes. This condition has very materially contributed to the curtailment in coke production and shipment. With its removal it is quite certain that a considerable gain will result, but perhaps not until the congestion in the scale and classification yards has been cleared.

The estimated production of coke during the week ending Saturday, May 8, was 170,100 tons, contributed by the two districts in the following proportions: Connellsville, 95,250, a decrease of 2,883 tons; Lower Connellsville, 74,850, a decrease of 3,690 tons, or a total decrease of 6,573 tons, as compared with a gain of 22,860 tons during the week ending May 1. By interests the production was, therefore, 113,527, a decrease of 103 tons; merchant, 56,570, a decrease of 6,570 tons, as compared with increases of 19,390 and 3,970 tons respectively during the preceding week.

The oven changes during the week recorded a net gain of 75, the furnace plants having added 51 and the merchants blown out 16. Nellie, with 35 active ovens, was compelled to close down on account of the continued tieup on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, by which it is served. The principal additions were: Davidson, 16 ovens; Lisenring, 20; Southwest No. 3, 23; Potland, 30; Tower Hill Nos. 1 and 2, nine.

COKE TRADE SUMMARY.

That coke production continues to be dominated by the transportation situation was given rather convincing proof again last week when there was recorded a drop of 6,500 tons, as compared with a gain of 22,860 during the preceding week. But for the facilities available to the M. C. Frick Coke company, which a service is being maintained with its individual cars between certain points in the Lower Connellsville district and its river loading stations, the decrease would have been considerably heavier. By this means the furnace production was kept close to the figures of the preceding week. Dependent upon two of the roads serving the region, both merchant and the merchant producers were not able to do proportionately as well as the furnace interests. Instead, their output fell behind approximately 6,500 tons.

The fact that the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and the Newell yards, working yesterday, two handling coke, gives hope to those coke producers who are dependent upon this road as an outlet to the valleys and the west. Should resumption of traffic follow the break in the Lake Erie blockade, it will afford very much needed relief to the Lower Connellsville district.

Several influences are operating to prevent advance in coke prices, which hold close to $33 for prompt furnace and $32.60 for prompt merchant.

FEELING OF LETHARGY NOTICEABLE IN SOME BUSINESS DEPARTMENTS

Growing Willingness to Let Matters Take Their Course Until an Adjustment Has Been Reached.

Special to The Weekly Courier.—NEW YORK, May 12.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade situation as follows: Production of steel ingots in April was at a rate of about 17 per cent below the high rate attained in March, the April rate being about that of last December. Shipments of steel were less than production, and some of the steel shipped did not reach destination.

There is very little complaint by steel consumers because they do not receive steel. Some could not use steel, on account of lack of fuel or other necessities, while others could use steel but recognize that conditions are dictated by the rail strike, which is pursuing a very devious course, rising at one point and falling at another, while there is a great difference in the degree of effort exerted by different railroad companies to bring the strike to an end.

A distinct feeling of lethargy has crept over some departments of business, the disposition being to let matters take their course. There is an increasing feeling that business cannot adjust itself to conditions making for real prosperity and progress without a few weeks, or months, of readjustment accompanied by sufficient idleness to cause men who need the lesson to realize that hard work is an economic necessity to temporal well-being.

The pig iron and steel markets are quiet, almost stagnant, and in some lines there is not enough activity to make market prices, so that prices previously established remain the market only in a nominal sense. Perilous for very prompt shipment of finished steel products are diminishing. Prices for moderately early deliveries are in the main unchanged, producers holding to them in face of the fact that sales are less than the normal rate of production or consumption. Even the United States Steel Corporation's sales are somewhat diminished, the corporation's gain of $47,672 tons, in unfilled obligations during April reflecting a decrease in shipments, so that while the unfilled tonnage increased more in April than in March or February, the actual bookings were smaller.

BEEHIVE OUTPUT SHOWED FURTHER SLIGHT INCREASE

During the Week Ended Mar 1; Total the U. S. 373,000, or 75 Per Cent of Same Week in 1919.

A further slight recovery marked the production of beehive coke in the United States during the week ended May 1, says the weekly report of the United States Geological Survey, prepared by F. G. Tryon. The total output, as indicated by shipments originated by the 26 principal coke-carrying roads, was 373,000 net tons, as against 342,000 tons in the preceding week. In spite of the nine per cent increase, production was only three-fourths of that of the last week in March. The interruption to transportation caused by the switchmen's strike was the cause of the decrease.

Production in the Connellsville region, according to The Courier, was 175,775 tons, an increase over the week before of 22,860 tons, or 13 per cent.

The cumulative production since the beginning of the calendar year now amounts to 7,288,000 tons, or within 15,000 tons of that of the corresponding period in 1919.

Production by states, compared with the corresponding period of 1919, was as follows:

	1920	1919
Pennsylvania and Ohio	569,000	537,000
West Virginia	30,900	15,000
Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia	43,000	22,000
Virginia and Kentucky	27,000	15,000
Colorado, Oklahoma and New Mexico	9,000	10,000
Washington and Utah	5,000	5,000
U. S. Total	723,800	626,000

FURTHER EXTENSION OF HOME STUDY TO INDUSTRIAL WORKERS

To Be Provided by Pennsylvania State College Through Its Engineering Extension Division.

To wear jumpers and overalls, or a leather apron, during the day and then spend the evening as a quiet scholar delving into the mysteries of shop engineering, problems in mathematics, drawing, or mechanics, is rapidly becoming a popular experience among industrial employees in the state. This new order of industrial training and education is now being given further impetus with the announcement by the engineering extension division of the Pennsylvania State college that they are preparing a large number of home study courses covering almost every kind of practical work.

The college has found that there has been a great demand of late on the part of many shop workers throughout the state for the institution of such courses of study that would offer a chance to fill leisure hours at home. Demands have been so insistent that already some men have been started on various subjects with gratifying results. The courses are elementary enough as to be understood by shop men who have had very little schooling. Further information can be secured by writing to the extension division at State college.

Smithfield.

SMITHFIELD, May 12.—The remains of Mrs. John Phillips, who died at the home of a sister in Portland, Oregon, Sunday, May 2, arrived here Monday noon and removed to the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Hibbs, a niece. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. R. Hackman Tuesday afternoon, followed by interment in the Baptist cemetery. Three brothers and two sisters survive: Justice Baer, North Union township; Lewis Baer, Dunbar; John Baer, Smithfield; Mrs. Mary Riddle, German township; and Mrs. Jennie Turney, Portland, Ore. Burgess A. J. Sutton and son, Omer Sutton, have opened a coal mine on the Burgess farm in Nicholson township. They are transporting the output in trucks to the P. & M. branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for shipping.

Alex Black of Ruble was a borough business visitor Tuesday. James French of Scotland was in the borough Tuesday looking up old landmarks and family history. He was born here, he says; his father being a wagon maker here some 50 years ago.

The borough's population will show a handsome increase, it is believed, when the result of the enumeration is announced. It is learned that the population is above 900, an increase of about 30 per cent over the 1910 figure, 740. The enumerator for the borough is a resident of Greene county.

Things are shaping up for the Memorial Day observance. The Smithfield post of the American Legion will have a large share in the observance this year, the local G. A. R. post having turned the whole matter of arrangements over to them. The younger veterans have taken hold in a right spirit and promise to make the observance most impressive.

The stork has increased the population by two by leaving a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowen, Church street, on May 6, and another boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thompson, Main street, on May 7.

Flatwoods.

FLATWOODS, May 13.—Mrs. William McLaughlin and son of Vanderbilt are spending a few days at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes.

The farmers in this community are now very busy getting in their crops and this week will find much of the planting completed.

Austin & Matthews, contractors, are making satisfactory progress on the Vanderbilt end of the state road, having it graded as far as the Samuel McLaughlin place.

The Franklin township graduating class held commencement exercises in the Flatwoods church last Friday evening, which was largely attended. The principal address was made by Prof. H. D. Freeland, superintendent of the Greene county schools. Other numbers on the program were: Vocal solo, Miss Thelma Sasser; presentation of diplomas, Rev. J. Earle Edwards, pastor of the First Baptist church, Connellsville; music, furnished by the Connellsville Military orchestra. The exercises were in charge of Paul Dunn, supervising principal for the township.

A Few Words to Husbands About Washday Help

New ideals have come to husbands on the question of what should be expected of a helpmate. No husband now asks of his wife anything that he would not do himself.

But many husbands forget about washday, with its heavy labor. And because they just haven't thought about it, still permit their wives to struggle on with this trying task.

It need not be so in the future. Our Family Laundry Service offers a happy way out. This is a modern service—the cost is no more than washday at home, and usually it is less.

We wash everything in water delightfully soft and in fleecy suds of flaked soap. Nowhere in our process is there any of the old-fashioned rubbing or scrubbing. Washed in our way every garment is sweet and fresh—a joy to wear.

Then we iron the flat pieces—the bed linens, the tablecloths, the napkins, and so on, in our improved manner. Other things, like skirts, the children's clothes, and shirtwaists, we starch and make ready for the housewife to iron. Many of the undergarments, because of the airy way we dry them, need no ironing.

In substance, we do all the back-breaking work of washday, leaving to housewives only the lighter ironing.

We will be glad to tell you more about this family laundry service. Telephone us any time. Or mail us your address and we will have our man call for your family bundle.

CHAPTER XII.

A Dangerous Prisoner

He was tall and thin wearing a wide cloak about his shoulders and high hat with broad brim. Even at that distance it could be seen that his long hair was gray, and that a heavy mustache, snow-white, made more noticeable the thin features of his face. He looked at the two men closely, and his voice easily reached the ears of the listeners.

"Who posted you here?"
"Juan Caters, senior," answered one.

"Not on my order" Dias is watching above. Did the lieutenant give you a reason?"

"The prisoners, senior."
"The prisoners?" Oh, yes; those that Lacy had confined here. Well, they will not be here for long. I do not believe in prisoners, and because I do business with that dog is no reason why he is privileged to use this place to hold his victims. Where is Caters?"

"In the valley, senior! He went back down the passage with Silva after posting us here."

"And the prisoners?"
"Occupy the two inner cells. Mendoza here says one of them is a girl."

"A girl!" the tall man laughed. "That then will account for the unusual interest of Juan Caters, and why he preferred being left in charge. A girl, hey, Mendoza! You saw the witch? What sort was she?"

"An American, senior, young and good to look at!" the other man explained. "Her eyes are blue as the sky."

"Carabala! This is all pleasant enough. I will pay my respects to the lady, and there is no time like the present."

He turned away, thumbing his mustache, quite pleased with his conduct, but one of the men stopped him with a question.

"We remain here, senior?"

"Yes, you might as well," his lips smiling, "and if the Senior Caters agrees, you can tell him that I visit the fair American. It will give him peace."

The girl drew Cavendish back hurriedly, but at 1 working in a flash of inspiration.

"Quick!" she breathed to his ear. "There is a niche where we can hide a few yards back. If he follows the other wall he might pass, and not notice."

"But he goes to your cell," his face said.

"I know, but come. He must not go there. I will tell you my plan."

They were pressed back within the slight recess before the Mexican turned the corner, and she had hastily breathed her desperate scheme.

"It can be done," she insisted, "and there is naught else possible. Give me the revolver. Good! Be silent now."

Mendoza came down the black passage evidently in a good humor, humming a tune, with one hand pressed upon the wall to better guide his movements. The girl stood erect, the revolver gripped in one hand, the other pressing back her companion into the recess. She had lost all sense of fear in the determination to act better risk all than surrender without a struggle. Mendoza fumbled along the wall, stumbled over some slight projection and swore; another step, and his groping hand would touch her. He never took the step, but was whizzed against the side wall, with the cold barrel of a revolver pressed against his cheek. A stern, silent whisper told him motionless.

"If you move I fire," senior, raise your hands—quick!"

He responded mechanically, too profoundly astounded to dream of resistance. It was the sound of the voice which impressed him.

"Santa Maria! A woman?"

"Yes, senior, a woman, the same you sought, but I have found you first."

He chuckled.

"A good jest surely; how came you here?"

"Not to discuss that, senior," quietly. "Nor is this to be laughed over. If you would live, as I say, Mr. Cavendish, see if the man bears weapons."

"Only a belt with a knife."

"Keep the knife; it may come handy for some purpose. Now bind his hands with the belt. Cross your wrists, senior."

He had lost his temper, no longer deeming this a joke.

"You—vixen," he growled savagely. "This play will soon be done; do you know who I am?"

"The senior Pascual Mendez, but that means nothing," she answered. "This revolver will kill you as surely as any one else. Do what I say then, and talk no more—cross your wrists behind."

He did so and Cavendish strapped the stout belt about them, winding it in and out until he had sure purchase. He drew it so tightly the fellow winced.

"It hurts, senior," she said satisfied. "Well, to hurt you a little is better than what you planned for me. Now lead on. No hasty first I know who you are and your power here."

That is why we took this chance of making you prisoner. We are desperate, it is either your life, or ours, senior. You are an outlaw with a price on your head, and you realize what chances one will take to escape. Now, there is just one opportunity given you to live."

"What senior?"

"That you accompany us down this passage into the valley as hostage. You will compel your men, if we encounter any, to furnish us horses."

"But the men may not obey. I can not promise, Senior Caters."

"Senior Caters will not be there," she interrupted sharply. "We have already seen to Senior Caters. The others will obey you."

"They may. I cannot promise."

"Then it will be your own loss, for if there be a shot fired, you will get either a bullet or a knife thrust. I would try no sharp tricks. Senior Mendez, now we go on."

"If You Would Live, Do as I Say."

Mendoza smiled grimly in the dark, his mind busy. "I am to go first?" and his voice assumed polite deference.

"Beside Mr. Cavendish," she replied, "and I will be behind."

"This gentleman, you mean?"

"Yes; and there is no need for any more acting. This is the revolver pressing against your back, senior. I could scarcely miss you at that distance."

They advanced in silence, through the faint gleam of light which illuminated the passage through the stone slits over the cell doors.

The darkness swallowed them again, but the way was clear, and, once around the sharp turn, a glimmer of distant daylight made advance easier. There was no sign of any guard visible, nor any movement perceptible in the open vista beyond the cave entrance. The girl touched Mendoza's arm.

"You expect Lacy?"

"I have sent for him, it was yesterday."

"And he could be here now?"

"Not before night, it is a hard ride, why ask all this?"

"I have reasons. Now another thing; where are your men?"

His eyes wandered to the gleam of daylight.

"There will be one or two in the bunk-house likely, the others are with the cattle up the valley."

"But none in your cabin?"

He shook his head.

"And you say Lacy cannot get here before dark? How late?"

"Well, senior, I may as well tell you, I suppose. It is the rule not to enter this valley after dark. I expect the Americans to arrive about ten o'clock."

"The Americans?"

"Six there will be three in the party one of them a man from New York, who has business with me."

Her clear, thoughtful eyes turned inquietly toward Cavendish, but the survey brought with it no encouragement. The man meant well, no doubt, and would fight valiantly on occasion; he was no coward, no weakling—equally clear his was not the stuff from which leaders are made. There was uncertainty in his eyes, a lack of force in his face which told the story. What error was decided upon, or accomplished, must be by her volition, she could trust him to obey, but that was all.

"Then we will make no attempt to leave the valley until after dark," she said slowly. Even if we got away now, we would be pursued and overtaken, for the desert offers few chances for concealment. If we can reach that smaller cabin unseen we ought to be safe enough there for hours. Caters will not bother and with Mendoza captive his men will not learn what has occurred. Is not this our best plan, Mr. Cavendish?"

"And at night?"

"We must work some scheme to get horses and depart before those reach here. If we leave this man securely bound, his plight will not even be discovered until Lacy arrives. By that time with any good fortune, we will be beyond pursuit, lost in the desert. Do you think of anything better?"

That he did not was evidenced by the vacant look in his eyes, and she waited for no answer.

"Here," she said, thrusting the revolver into his hand, "take this and guard Mendoza until I return. It will only be a moment. Don't take your eyes off him, there must be no alarm."

She moved forward through the gloomy shadows toward the light showing at the mouth of the cave and was able to gain a comprehensive view of the entire scene beyond. Within the cave itself there was no movement, no evidence of life. Quite clearly no guard had been posted here, and no precautions taken, although doubtless the only entrance to the deep valley was carefully watched.

The two cabins were directly before the entrance, the smaller closely against the cliff, the larger slightly advanced. Neither exhibited any sign of life. Her study of the situation concentrated on the small cabin immediately in front. It was built of logs well mortised together and plastered between with clay. There were no windows on the end toward the cliff, or along the one side which she could see from where she lay. The single door must open from the front, and apparently the house had been erected with the thought that it might some time be used for purposes of defense, as it had almost the appearance of a fort. Confident there could be no better time for the venture Stella signified with her hand for the others to join her.

"The way is clear," she said, "and, listen to my warning, senior. We are going straight along the north side of your cabin there, until we reach the door. For about twenty feet we shall be exposed to view from that other cabin, if any of your men are there. If you dare utter a sound, or make a motion, this man will shoot you dead in your tracks—do you understand?"

His look was ugly enough, although he compelled the thin lips to smile.

"Quite clearly—yes, but pardon me if I doubt. You might kill me, I think that, yet how would it serve you? One shot fired would bring here a dozen men—then what?"

"I thank you, senior; there will be no shot fired. Give me the revolver Mr. Cavendish; now take this knife. As we advance walk one step behind Mendoza. You will know what to do. Now senior, if you wish to try an experiment—we go now."
